SECRETARIES OF CONFERENCES AND MISSIONS

The following list of Secretaries, with their post office addresses, is published herewith as an aid to the Bishops and Conference Secretaries in making the transfers of preachers, especially during the time of the Conference sessions. Often they are hindered, if it should be the Fall Conference that is being held, in making the transfer to a Spring Conference, by not knowing to whom to send the certificate of transfer. It is hoped this may be of advantage both to the Bishop and the Secretary.

This list is correct according to the latest information.—EDITOR.

ALASKA MISSION

BISHOP LUCCOCK, in Charge

The distances for travel are so great and the expense so large that no attempt was made to hold a meeting of the Mission this year. Bishop Cooke visited a portion of the field during the past summer.

A new interest is developing in Alaska since the era of railroad building has set in. We have an investment at Anchorage, a town of three thousand inhabitants, up on Cook inlet near the coal mines, and the terminal of the projected Fairbanks railroad.

Alaska needs a larger hearing and an increased interest on the part of the church.

OUR DEAD

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

We publish here memoirs of the Bishops and General Conference officials, but no mention is ever made of that large company, devoted and comparatively unknown, the preacher and the church member. We are always watching for the "increase," and fail to note the vacancies that have been created as one after another passes on before.

During the year 1915 the ministerial death roll numbers 371. Most of these have come from the retired list, but some of them were in the hey-day of victorious service. Now

"Naught disturbs the peace profound
Which their unfettered souls enjoy."

Then from the pews have gone during the same time, 50,340; enough to make three of some of the Conferences, and one of most of the larger ones. These wrought well and are missed in the churches.

"The labors of their mortal life End in a large reward."

BISHOP DAVID HASTINGS MOORE, D.D., LL.D.

Bishop David H. Moore died November 23, 1915, in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, aged seventy-seven years. He had been in failing health for some time, although it was not believed the end was so near. When stricken he was returning from the Pacific coast, where he had been attending the meetings of the Bishops and of the General Committee. At the close of the meeting of the General Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, in Oakland, he started back by way of Portland, the city of his episcopal residence for four years, remaining there for a few days. He was stricken while traveling between Chicago and Cincinnati, being taken from the sleeper in an unconscious state. He was in a comatose condition all day, passing away in the evening.

David H. Moore was born in Athens, O., September 4, 1838, the son of Hon. Eliakim Hastings Moore. He was graduated from Ohio University in 1860, and immediately entered the Methodist ministry. At the opening of the Civil War, fired with patriotism—a virtue that characterized him throughout his life—he enlisted as a private in Company A, 87th Ohio Infantry, which company he himself raised, and soon after was made captain. For bravery on the field he rapidly rose in the ranks, and was lieutenant colonel of the 125th Ohio Infantry in the closing scenes of the Civil War. Following the war he returned to the pastorate, serving in Columbus, Cincinnati, and other centers, until 1875, when he was elected president of Cincinnati Wesleyan College, where he remained until 1880, when he was made president of Colorado Seminary, and later chancellor of Denver University. He was elected editor of the Western Christian Advocate in 1889, and served a year, when the General Conference of 1900 elected him to the episcopacy.

As a bishop he was first stationed in Shanghai, where he had special jurisdiction over the missions of the church in China, Japan, and Korea, and for four years gave his energies to developing our missionary enterprise in that part of the world. In 1904 he was stationed at Portland, Ore., and in 1908 at Cincinnati. He was retired at the General Conference of 1912.

Bishop Moore had the gift of enthusiasm for work, and when retired in 1912, he chose Indianapolis as his residence, at the solicitation of the Methodists of that city. He was intensely interested in the work of Methodism in this center, and was much in demand for all manner of occasions. He made use of his days of retirement also in preparing a life of his friend,

Bishop John M. Walden, who died a little over a year ago. After failing health came to him, he left Indianapolis for the home of his birth and boyhood in Athens, where, amid the scenes of his youth, and cared for by the tender ministries of his daughter Marian, he was spending the eventide of his life.

Bishop Moore had the gift of intense friendship, was thoroughly devoted to his work, and was a stanch and consistent supporter of Methodism at all times and under all circumstances. In the various positions that he filled as pastor, educator, editor, and bishop, he gave of his best. A loyal servant of the church has closed his career in the death of David Hastings Moore, the forty-fifth bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

One of the most tender friendships that existed in the episcopal board was that between Bishop Moore and Bishop Cranston. They were both graduated from the same university, and had worked together in many of the great enterprises of the church. One of the sons of Bishop Moore and a son of Bishop Cranston are members of the same law firm in Denver.

Bishop Moore died on the fourth anniversary of his wife's death. He is survived by four sons and two daughters.

At the funeral services the four sons acted as pall-bearers. Bishop Cranston was in charge, assisted by Bishops Anderson and McDowell. Interment was in Athens, O.

NOTE.—There is an error in the Full Membership list of the Mississippi Conference in the Spring Minutes. A figure 2 in the thousands column was missed in the addition of the Recapitulation Table, thus giving them 18,904 in place of 20,904. This would take 2,000 from their decrease of 2,785, making it only 785, and will make the net increase in CHURCH MEMBERSHIP FOR THE YEAR 106,823 IN PLACE OF 104,823.
